

THIS PAGE: WHITE COTTON SHIRT, £125; GREY WOOL BLAZER, £485, BOTH BY MARTIN MARGIELA AT LIBERTY. JEANS, FROM A SELECTION, BY MARITHE & FRANCOIS GIRBAUD. SILVER TRAINERS, £50, BY NIKE. OPPOSITE: BLUE COTTON SHIRT, £170; GREY HERRINGBONE JACKET, £695 AS PART OF SUIT, BOTH BY PAUL SMITH AT LIBERTY. BLUE JEANS, £89, BY G-STAR

Michael Raedecker

Besides Frieze Art Fair, Raedecker's beautifully eerie paintings can currently be seen at his solo show at Hauser & Wirth in London. The 44-year-old takes inspiration from German painter Albert Oehlen: "His paintings are so ugly, and at the same time very intelligent. I like the way he uses grey, which I have a lot of in my work." The best piece of style advice he has ever received? "Don't grow a mullet. I tried around the time I was nominated for the Turner, but a lot of people started frowning."